Joseph Jones, vindicate before the world "the consummate ability of the Confederate leaders, who, with scarcely 600,000 men, poorly armed and equipped, prolonged, through four years of unexampled privation and toil, a bloody and gigantic war against 3,000,000 of men, armed with the most effective and destractive wespons of modern warfare." COURT DAY IN BLACKVILLE.

The First Meeting of Court-Platt in the Pulpit-The Colored Lawyers-A Queer Case-The Weather and Crops.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRE-PONDENT.] BLACKVILLE COURTHOUSE, August 30 .- This has been the first time since the removal of the courthouse of the "keounty" to this place that the blind goddess' has made her debut. We might well nigh say we had forgotten whether the blindfolde I female is supposed under the new regime, to preside especially over Justice or Liberty, or whether she has no given a slight change to her base and ombraces them both. At any rate, we may safely infer that she leans rather much to the dark side in both respects, whether her eyes be blindfolded or not.

Everybody and their uncle came to town, influenced no doubt by as varied emotions as sway the human heart. Hope, fear, curiosity, capidity and whiskey, all contributed their quoto in swelling the throng. The vendors of watermelons and cakes were as happy a set of individuals as an August sun ever shone upon, as they smilingly witnessed the dimunit their piles of edibles and a proportionate increase of fractional currency.

"HIS HONOR" TAKES TO THE PULPIT. The court convened in the Baptist Church, which has been secured for that purpose, his Honor, Judge Zephaniah Platt, presiding in the pulpit. We wondered and smiled, and smiled and wondered still, if his Honor perched up in the sacred desk imagined that by virtue of his position, his words might not be considered as happy combination of the "law and gospel," and thus convey additional force. It seemed to us a queer place for a Radical judge, that Baptist Church.

The weather has been intensely warm, and judge, jury and all, with one accord, tried the efficacy of ice water, fans and possibly other sustainers and invigorators of wearied nature. and bore their sufferings like martyrs.

A MIXED JURY.

There is something novel, if not interesting and calculated to produce a scent-sation in this parti-colored jury, which is without distriction of race, color, odor or previous condition; and there were many present who desired, from motives of curiosity, to witness the new order of things under Radical reconstruction.

TAKEN IN AND DONE FOR.

One unfortunate individual, led by the afore sad spirit of curiosity, to squeeze his portly form within the precints of his Honor, was forthwith seized and placed on the jury in the stead of a recreant juryman who had not suffi cient fear of Judge Platt before his eyes to induce his attendance. The moral to this little court episode is simply that, by minding one's own business, we may avoid much tribulation especially that of being placed on a mixed jury in the heated term, from which we may reverently say, "Good Lord, deliver us." COLORED CHLEBRITIES.

Among the gentlemen of the legal profession who contributed their talent towards a proper administration of justice, appeared the honorable senators from Barnwell and Beaufort, Elliott and Whipper, who afforded their legal brethren and outside barbarians an opportunity of measuring their mental calibre. The general impression seems to be favorable; and although the stomach of your corespondent may not be as thoroughly reconstructed as those of others upon whom he might place The United States, McMakin's, Atlantic and his finger, and becomes a little nauseated in American Hotels, at Cape May, with many in- taking these black Radical pills, yet it must be admitted that the easy politeness and general The brown-stone building in Chestnut-street, good bearing of these "gentlemen of color" Philadelphia, immediately adjoining the Con- has impressed the community with no other tinental Hotel, was burning last night, and the feelings than those of good will, and we may placed on record for future reference.

THE CROPS. The farmers are busily engaged in picking cotton. Owing to the rust, the cotton opens more rapidly than usual. The impression is general throughout the county that the crop has been cut short at least one-third, some think one-half; but though it is undeniable that in some instances a half crop only will be made, we do not think, on a general average, that so large a percentage will be lost as some persons imagine. Few men, comparatively, will estimate their crops, and the disposition is rather to make too low an estimate; hence the expression of the opinion that the cotton erop will fall short one-half, must be taken cum grano salis

We noticed the shipment from this place, on Saturday, of two bales new cotton, which were consigned respectively to Messre. George H. Walter & Co., and Messis. Pelzer, Rodgers & Co. Sunday, it is conceded by many, was the bottest day of the season; and we so much wished that our honored female ancestor of Paradisaical notoriety had only restrained her curiosity, so that we, like her, might appear pluris naturatibus, and have no breath of scandal assail us.

RADICAL POW-WOW IN EDGEFIELD.

The correspondent of the Augusta Constitutionalist, writing from Edgefield Courthouse, under date of the 28th, says:

During the last three weeks our village has enjoyed a short peace. Since Eichelberger pub-lished that letter in the Columbia Phonix, he has been the guest of Congressiana Hoge, in Columbia, and at the same time keeping his Excellency Governor Scott posted in regard to the one hundred and fifty murders, (said to be committed in our county each month.) which his Excellency promised a committee of our citizens to forward the names of, and which said committee agreed to have arrested and tried but not other. tried, but up to this time their names have not

On yesterday atternoon the constabulary force, arms and equipments, were all put in order to proceed to escort Philip Eichelberger (the ex-captain) to the Pine House depot. At 3 o'clock, Philip, in a carriage, with his escort, proceeded to the depot, and escorted Congressman Hoge into town, and thence to the residence of Philip, one mile from the village, where it is said the party were up until a late hour last night discussing the great wrongs the loyal party has suffared in our county.

To-day, Hoge spoke to the negroes for an hour and a half upon the lawlessness of this county, which, of course, is all done by the rebels, and that the only friend of the negro on this earth was the leaders of the Republican party.

he does not look sharp Philip will prove a heavy stone in his way for the nomination—Philip, too, has political ambition.

Miss Buie, the Confederate soldiers' friend, recently paid a visit to Governor Scott to get him to remove the "melish" from this place, but Governor Scott refused her request, and said that old Edgefield had put him to more trouble than the whole State, and instead of removing the present force, he intended to increase it; he also said that all loyal men should be respected and have justice. Justice is all our people want, for we know if the Rads get justice somebody will suffer.

GENERAL CANBY AND THE TEST

General Camby a distrust of the Conservative Committee has long been known, and within the last few days efforts have been made to replace it and the true Republican Committee by a new committee that should represent the whole body of the supporters of Walker. But this has been strenuously opposed by Raleigh T. It is believed that this committee, as soon as it is aware that it is looked upon as an obstacle in the way of reconstruction, will General Camby s distrust of the Conservative obstacle in the way of reconstruction, will readily agree to dissolve in favor of a joint

The proposed resignation of the ineligible members elect of the Legislature, coupled with General Canby's promise, is looked upon as not a very objectionable way out of our difficulties, and there is little doubt entertained here that the members unable to take the test oath will generally vacate. If they besitate, oath will generally vacate. If they hesiate, the public voice is likely to be raised in denunciation against them. COURT ADJOURNED—LITTLE DONE.

The juries were discharged on Friday. The only case of much interest was one of rape, in which the prisoner was found "guilty;" but strange to state, after the jury had returned to their homes, it is stated that the foreman had an interview with the judge, hal the finding reversed, and a new trial ordered. This must be something novel in law, and should be larged en record for future reference.

The Suggaw refugees and the Imperial fleet, consisting of the Henda, the Kami-no-Mami, the Kingsu and another vessel, name not given, all led by the Stonewall. The fire was directed against the fort and the recoll war vessel Eagle, and was answered with spirit. The Eagle was stranded, but not silenced during the battle. On the 20th the Mikado fleet commenced an attack on the tort, while the troops advanced towards the breastworks. For four hours a severe and continuous fire of great guns and musketry was kept up and both sides fought with vigor and spirit. But superior to all in gunnery, in indomitable courage and inexhaustible vigor, were distinguished the crew of the rebel ship Emperor. Beset by the whole of the rebel ship Emperor. Beset by the whole of the Mikado's fleet, menaced by the crushing ram of the Stonewall, the especial mark of the well-directed fire of the Kiangsu and the Henda, the little vessel, hardly larger than a yacht, was fought with heroic courage and dauntless resolution. One of the attacking fleet was blown up by a shell in her magazine, thrown by the Emperor. She sank immediately, and her crew struggled in the water, with more abell from the enemy hursting over their reads. her crew struggled in the water, with more shell from the enemy bursting over their beads. The rules of civilized warfare were not observed by the rebels, and the sinking men were so far neglected by their friends that only twenty were saved. As the day progressed, it was cydent that the Torig wa men were being overpowered. The Eagle and the Emperor were fired and blown up. The town and neighboring villages and official houses were also fired. During the afternoon of June 21, the Mikado's troops and civil officers occupied the town, but the Fort Kamida still held 1400 desperate men. It was surrounded by impedesparate men. It was surrounded by imperial troops, and on the 231 a message was re desparate men. It was surrounded by imperial troops, and on the 231 a message was received from its commander. Enomoto, proposing terms of surrender. The terms were rejected, and Enomoto opened fire with rapidity. Supplies were sent into the fort, during the night of the 231, from some of the Misado's men. The garrison was also allowed to replace guns in position, and enjoy other advantages, because the imperial officers thought it was "inglorious to interfere with them in their starving condition." This absurdity is described as peculiarly Japanese. On the 25th the fort was surrendered after some fighting. On the 27th the Tokugawas were all disarmed. They were a motley crew—many of them lads of seventeen or eighteen, and all very youn: Their dress exhibited every possible variety of what seemed English slops of the worst description, in the dirtiest possible condition.

Seldom, says the Japan Gazette, has a revolu-tion anywhere, certainly never in the East, been tollowed by so few political executions. Ecomoto's crime, however, has been enormous; he is a traitor to his severeign; a traitor to his chief, a renegade from his clan, and a robber of the public. He has caused much bloodshed and great loss to the country, and his punishment will doubtless be signal. On the 26th July the Gazette had the following: On the 26th July the Gazette had the following: Politically, every thing is quiet. The fleet has returned from Hakodadi, with a great portion of the troops on board, the rest coming down overland. As they arrive they are dispatched to their several provinces, and Yeddo will soon have only its ordinary garrison. The place seems to be filling tast again with its legitimate inhabitants. We wish we could add that its legitimate trade was also reviving.

He further charges that the State Attorney is allowed $3600 a year as Attorney for the State cer is by law entitled to but $2000 per annum. He further charges that the State Attorney is allowed $3600 a year as Attorney for the State Boad, when by act of Assembly this officer is obliged to proceed in that capacity without other compensation than the $2000 per annum specially appropriated for him. He further charges that enormous sums are drawn by "His Excellency" for the illumination of Kimball's Opera House, whereas there has been but a trifling gas bill. In this clause it is clearly instinuated that the State is paying the gas bills of restaurants and billiard saloons for the "Governor's" peculiar benefit. He further charges that a pretentious guard of the Executive Mansion is paid $120 per month, when public exigency does not warrant such an outlay and our side parties would be willing to save this execut, the "Governor," the trooly loil "Governor," is arraigned, in a monetary point of view, by his prooly loil treasurer. —Boston felt peculiarly interested in the international boat-race, and adopted a peculiar method of announcing the matter. If the Harvards were victorious, 5-5 was to be struck by the fire-alarm; but as they were defeated, 2-2 was struck. If the Harvards won, the American flag was to be displayed on the top of a pole on Telegraph Hill at Hull; but as the English beat, the flag was run only half way of the staff. The Harvard boys assembled in Boston to learn the result, and when it came they did not cheer.

JARA.—Departed this life, in Williamsburg, N. J., on the 11th August, 1869, Mrs EUIZA COSTELLO, beloved consort of Joss Jara. of this city, in the 32d year of her age. A devoted wife, kind mother, and a most generous frieed. In the domestic relations of life her gentleness, for becarance and kindness endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. But a few weeks since, the subject of this notice, in prime health and vigor, with a pleasant anticipation of meeting a dear brother whom she had not seen for many years, and intending to spend a few tion of meeting a dear brother whom the had not seen for many years, and intending to spend a few months in his company and other friends whom ahe longed to see, took passage in the steamer and ar-viver safe, finding all, her anticipations faily realised, welcomed and kindly entertained by her brother welcomed and kindly entertained by her brother and friends, nothing seemed present to mar the happiness of this family and friendly union. But this pleasant condition of things was destined to be of short duration, for on the 5th of August she was saized with a violent attack of cholera morbus, and after a few slays suffering, which she bore with Christian rationce and fortitude, terminated her mortal existence, thus verifying the holy admonition, that "in the midst of life we are in death." The bereaved husband having been advised of the critical condition of his beloved companion, immediately left by rail, but arrived too late to meet her alive, and thus was deprived of the sad and lat con-end here; but no! there is an hereafter, where all hope to receive the reward of a well-spent life in the enjoyment of an everiasting bliss. Of this we have the promise from Him who suffered death on the Cross for our redemption in the welcome invitation: "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

without the appearance of bonesty. We keep all our money at home to build up ou impoverished country—every dollar of premium being safely invested in the State from which it is de rived. The institution is purely Southern, and hence should appeal with great force to the patriotism and and sympathy of every Southern heart. 'Tis not our purpose to make war on other com panies, but to exhibit the special advantages offered by this purely Southern Company-founded on riotism and solid wealth. Its ratio of assets to iabilities—the true test of a company's strengthto $100. Whenever and wherever we have presented the claims of this Company, it has not only enlisted the sympathies of our people, but has also secured their earty co-operation. SOLOMON'S BITTERS .- THIS PRE-PARATION, compounded by one of our oldest and most esteemed dauggists, has, during the short time in which it has been offered to the public, attained a reputation which has almost entirely driven out of market the various tonics and stimulants which, for a few months, by exorbitant puffing and heavy advertising, succeeded in building a profitable business for their projectors.

Solomon's Bitters are not of the flashy style, depending upon large advertising, bought puffs and fictitious recommendations for a sale to a guilible public. Their composition is well known to and ap proved by many of our best physicians, and the p.oprietors depend upon the intrinsic merits of their medicine to make it as popular as it is curative.

They do not pretend to offer a medicinal preparation that will cure all the ills that flesh is hear to, but they do contend that the judicious use of these Bitters will greatly alleviate human suffering, and bring very many to a state of comparative health who have long been strangers to that great blessing. One good genuine recommendation of any pro fessed curative is worth dozens or hundreds of bought certificates, and the Messrs. SOLOMONS have only published a few out of the bundreds of unso icited testimonies which the have received. We this morning give a copy of a letter from Hon. ALFX. H. STEPHENS, whose peculiarly enfeebled condition for the past six months has been known to the whole country. His few earnest words will go much further to confirm the good opinion already existing as to the beneficial qualities of this medicine than would columns of stercotyped recommendations from unknown parties:
